

Hazel Armstrong

Hazel Armstrong is the principal at Hazel Armstrong Law which specialises in accident compensation and employment law.

She is a member of the NZ Law Society Committee on ACC, and a Ministerial Appointment as Chair of the Gradual Process Panel which advises the Minister on occupational disease.

Hazel Armstrong has had a long-term interest in occupational health. She has participated in research into occupational disease, fatigue and shift work, and represented unions and injured workers at Coronial Hearings, and in ACC hearings around such high profile issues as lump sum compensation for victims of asbestos-related disease.

She is the professional health and safety advisor to the NZCTU for the training of health and safety representatives.
